

Isaac Molnar is an intellectual property attorney serving Ohio in the unique position of Intellectual Property Counsel to the Ohio Attorney General. Isaac works closely with Ohio universities, businesses and entrepreneurial support groups to improve commercialization in Ohio. He worked with Department of Higher Education's Commercialization Taskforce to develop a Tech Transfer and Commercialization website resource for businesses. He presents "IP Workshops" on numerous different IP issues most relevant to pre-revenue companies, and he meets with start-up companies one-to-one to discuss specific IP issues. He has also organized two significant symposiums to educate industry on the various state and local resources available to foster technology creation.